The expert judge on poultry was A. F. Stevens, Wellesley, Mass.

The awards given in the Furmer were all copied from the books by our special reporters, and exhibitors may rely upon their correctness. All errors found in the record of awards were corrected by the authorities before being copied.

The White Chester swine shown by Dr. Garcelon of Lewiston, and by Robert Ingalis, Portland, were some of the finest specimens of the breed ever shown at the State Fair.

Mr. Geo. E. Brackett, the new Trustee, has proved himself to be an efficient man for the place. Economy, system and order, characterize all his work. In the performance of his duties as Superintendent of Halls, he was polite and obliging to all, and rightfully felt it his duty to tender his services at any and all times whenever desired. The Furmer is under especial obligations to him for courtesies. His unanimous reflection was an expression which met the approval of every one.

The Furmer is under obligations to President Prince and his associates for many courtesies extended during the Fair, and for facilities rendered by which it.

The "burning question of judges and judging," is the way the Michigan Farmer puts it in speaking of the matter of award-ing prizes at the Fairs. That the matter ing prizes at the rairs. That the master quality objects, some of the judges at our State all it Fair had ample evidence in their conflicts with "kicking" competitors. After all, we are pretty well convinced that after authorities have selected competent judges, the rule should be firmly adhered to that the most of the judges shall be final. decisions of the judges shall be final.

The entries for the Bay State Agricultural Society's exhibition are beyond all an-ticipation. The energetic officers are en-thusiastic men and expected big things, but the result is going to eclipse their wildest hopes. There are 750 entries of cattle; 350 or sneep; 250 or swine; 250 of horses, in louding some of the choicest stock in Kentucky. The entries of dairy products are very large. Especial effort is being made for a large exhibit of fruit, and in addition of sheep; 250 of swine; 250 of horses, infor a large exhibit of fruit, and in addition it to the premiums previously offered, a special premium of $50 is offered for the best collection of apples from any farmers' club or Grange. There will be no racing, no side shows, no catch-penny affairs, and the n no smoking allowed in the building. The exhibition will open Oct. 5, in the Mechanics' Fair Building, Boston. In another column we give an article from our former correspondent, Dr. Hoskins, which we know our many readers who have followed him with his long con-tinued experiments in fruits for the cold North, will read with much interest; and without doubt they will rejoice with him in the abundance of fruit which his efforts have secured. In a private note the Doc-tor writes: "It almost scares me when 1 think how my trees may overwhelm me in a few years." It was hardly supposed by Dr. Hoskins when he began his experiments at Newport that he had chosen the most favorable spot for profitable fruit cul-ture, yet in view of the fact that right here in the center of the best fruit district in the State unmeasured quantities of as good fruit as there is grown is laying on the ground not worth the picking and arketing, who shall say that it was not so? The Doctor has our thanks for his timely

A Clean State Fair.

Visitors to the State Fair at Lewiston highly appreciated the efforts of its officers to rule from the grounds everything hav-ing the semblance of a gaming table or of a game of chance of any kind. Their success in this direction proves that all that is needed to clean a Fair of these immoral at-tachments is a decision to do it and an effort to carry out the rules. True a few hering-tossing tables were admitted the first day by Mr. Weymouth, the superintendent of of the Park, but they were soon shut out on attention being called to them. In these efforts the management was cordially aided by the city authorities. The officers may rest assured that in their efforts for a clean State Fair they have the cordial endorsement of the public. The further step is now called for by stopping the bawling of fruit venders and salesmen, and bringing them within the rules of common decency. There is no call for their incessant noise, and not the shadow of a reason why it

Following are the statements on which prizes were awarded at the State Fair at Lewiston. See list of awards in the Farmer of of last week.

Statement to the Committee on Dairy Products, by Mrs. Mary L. Robbins, Winderson Dairy Products, by Mrs. Mary L. Robbins, Windows ucts, by Mrs. Mary L. Robbins, Winthrop:
As Mrs. Robbins sends her annual contribution to the Agricultural Fair, which seems, as carried on at Lewiston Fark, to be one of the State's necessities, I am reminded that my statements in regard to butter-making may seem stereotyped. I am making butter in the same old fashioned way. As in 1874, I set my milk in pans, skimmed in 24 or 30 hours, churned often by rotary movement, washed butter in pure cold water, salted it to suit individual tastes, moulded it from the churn and forwarded it to customers as soon as hard, so now I do. I use no creamery, have no butter-worker, use no ice (seldom need it), and still live, and average about one ton of butter per year.

The butter presented to your notice was atill live, and average about one ton of butter per year.

The butter presented to your notice was churned this day, Sept. 13th. Of my dairy of 10 cows and helfers, only 3 cows and 2 two-year-old helfers are giving milk at this time; the cows on account of short feed in pasture, are fed night and morning at table with corn fodder, clover cut, as feed, and one quart of meal. This butter was aslited 34 of an ounce to the pound. Respectfully submitted,

MRS. MARY L. ROSBINS.

Daphna's milk record for one week in Statement by S. Maggie Robbins, 9 years old, and written by herself:

I am a little girl nine years old, but I sometimes help mother about her butter, and my sisters have taken premiums, and they wanted me to send some. We have eight cows, but only five give milk now. The older cow's name is "Lady Alice," 7 years old; the younger, "Our Delight," not two years old. I had to stand on a box when I printed the butter. I sent some to Bangor, but I shall "try, try again."

Statement to the Committee on dairy products:

This butter is entered for the State premium, and also for special premium offered by Dr. G. M. Twitchell, Readfield, Me. The amount of milk required to make alx pounds of butter, was 100 lbs. The milk is set in shallow pans and akinmed atter words which the condition of premiums offered, I churned, salted it—using three-quarters of an ounce of salt to the pound—also printed it, complying with all of the conditions specified.

Respectfully submitted,
